Institution description

YOLARX Consultants is a consulting and research organization specialized in pharmacoepidemiology, pharmacovigilance and therapeutic risk management.

Our goal is to provide expertise and research of the highest methodological standards in order to evaluate the benefits and risks of medicines in the real-world setting. Our services include strategy planning, protocol development, study conduct, statistical analysis, medical writing and training. We have a vast experience in the analysis of secondary data sources and can have access to a broad network of collaborators to conduct field studies in multiple countries. We have conducted several post-authorization studies (PAS) involving safety signal detection, risk evaluation, drug utilization studies (DUS),and evaluation of effectiveness of risk minimization interventions (DUS, knowledge and understanding surveys) in a variety of therapeutic areas.
