Institution description

Quantify works with health economics, outcomes research, real-world evidence (RWE) and market access. Many of our studies focus on the development of RWE using Nordic registers. With more 100 peer-reviewed publications, we understand the capabilities, limitations and processes of national and regional data within the Nordics. This enables us to offer insights into the opportunities and challenges for accessing and pooling Nordic register data. Quantify also hosts several disease-specific research programs organized around in-house datasets, subject matter expertise, and collaborations with clinicians.
