Institution description

The European Society for Immunodeficiencies (ESID) is a not-for-profit association that was created in 1994. ESID has been striving to improve the knowledge in the field of Primary Immunodeficiency/Inborn Errors of Immunity (PID/IEI) by encouraging research, developing educational programs and fostering cooperation among all those involved in the diagnosis, treatment and management of these diseases.

ESID is organized in seven (7) working parties: Inborn Errors, Clinical, Education, Genetics, Registry, ESID Juniors, PID Care in Development. In order to perform its mission, ESID organizes several activities such as:

ESID Biennial Congress

ESID Focused Meetings

ESID Online Education

ESID Summer School

Endorsed activities

Awards and Grants

ESID Registry

ESID Guidelines

Mission:

ESID believes that every child, adolescent and adult born with a defective immune system has the right to benefit from both clinical and scientific knowledge.

Therefore, our mission is to enable patients with primary immunodeficiency diseases to live their lives to its full potential by improving awareness, diagnosis, treatment, education and understanding of these diseases.

As the leading society in the field, ESID is committed to promote collaboration between healthcare professionals, patient organizations, industry and governmental bodies and to foster education and research.
