Institution description

The Portuguese National Association of Pharmacies (ANF - Associação Nacional das Farmácias) is a professional organization representing pharmacies and pharmacists in Portugal. ANF plays a pivotal role in advocating for the interests of pharmacies and their role in the healthcare system. They work to promote the quality of pharmaceutical care, advocate for the well-being of patients, and support the professional development of pharmacists. ANF also collaborates with various stakeholders, including government agencies and healthcare providers, to ensure that pharmacies provide safe, accessible, and high-quality healthcare services to the public.
